Essay prompt:

“A journey is an expedition from one place to another. We all begin at the starting line setting off into the horizon in search of the finish line. What however, awaits us at the finish line? To some the human journey is the lifespan of a person, measured by time. To others, it’s about reaching an objective. In popular opinion people believe the human journey is the pursuit of happiness, in whatever form that may come, hence why everyone’s path is different. The most important things in life are hard and conquering is never smooth sailing; you will jump, get knocked down, but with courage and perseverance you will get back up and jump again.”

After reading the novel, write an essay- 3 pages, regarding the human journey the main character traveled.

Questions to consider: What was their roadmap like? Was the character able to resolve their conflicts? What factors impeded the main character's success? What factors contributed to the main character's success? How does the story relate to the human journey you're on?
